CIVIL COURT CASES ARE UP.

The Sessions This Week Will Likely Be Short.

ROUTINE MATTERS DISPOSED OF

Action in Two Divorce Cases from the Yough Region—An Affidavit of Defense in Local Suit Filed Today at Unontown.

Special to The Courier.

UNONTOWN, Oct. 10.—The second week of the September civil court convened this morning at 10 o'clock with both judges on the bench. Thirty-five cases were on this week's trial list, but 16 were continued, including all but one for today; that of Katherine Ibo, administratrix, against C. H. Blakely, appellee by defendant.

A large number were continued because of the serious illness of Attorney E. C. Higgins' father, the Connellsville lawyer, having been retained as counsel for numerous plaintiffs and defendants.

Cases called for today and continued were: Harry L. Newcomer, against John and Rachel D. Hackney, relators; Robert Foly, against Fayette County Gas Company; Christian Foly, against Westmoreland Grocery Company, appeal by defendants, two cases; Milton Bryner, against Samuel Lake, appeal by defendant.

The case of Isaac F. Piersol against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, an appeal from the viewers' award, has been settled. He was awarded $251 for property in Redstone township after the view.

The case of Charles Wilson against Harry Marlatt, for $30 wages in the Marietta Hotel in Connellsville was continued because of sickness, Attorney J. R. Cray, for the defense being too ill to assist in the case. The amount is claimed to be due for services rendered as a special officer in the bar. It was tried in 1907 but the jury disagreed, and it was called for today.

Sixty-five traversus jurors reported this morning and were discharged at 11 o'clock until two this afternoon because of the absence of the parties in the Ibo-Hackney case.

Affidavit Filed.

Attorney Ross Matthews today filed the affidavit of defense in the action of S. M. Fouet against Edward L. Marietta and Henry Hensel to recover $25,15 which the plaintiff claims due him for surveys made near Everson along Jacobs creek.

The defendants deny that on May 11, 1907, they employed Fouet to make the surveys, but did not agree to pay his ordinary charges or any other sum. They claim the work was done by the plaintiff for the Crescent Coal & Coke Company, who are liable for the amount.

Divorce Cases.

On motion of Attorney John Dugan, Jr., George Patterson was appointed master in the divorce case of Paul Barre against Borie alias Russo Barre.

A libel in divorce was filed by Attorney Dugan on behalf of Ernest Krause of Bradford, against his wife, Annie Krause. The couple eloped to Cumberland last April, and their married life was anything but happy. Cruel and barbarous treatment and untruthfulness is alleged. Both are about 22 years old.

Order Handled Down.

An order was handed down this morning dividing Luxoro township into four election precincts. In district No. 1 William Eagle was appointed judge of election and J. S. Scott and J. W. Barber inspectors. The voting place will be the school house at Thompson No. 2.

District No. 2, Orvis D. Slicker Judge, Albert Zelaty and C. F. Vernon Inspectors. Voting place at Charleston school house.

District No. 3, George C. Vernon Judge, Charles E. Rose and George H. Krippel Inspectors, voting place, Connellsville's house at Holstonburg.

District No. 4, Noland A. Porter Judge, Frank Porter and John Hackney Inspectors. Voting place, stone house at East Millboro.

The commissioners were E. C. McCullough, W. D. McGinnis and George Rathmell.

Stewart E. Guy was appointed constable to take the place of Tildar McLaughlin in German township. McLaughlin moved from the township.

On petition of the electors of North Union township for a new division of the township into an election precinct, the following commissioners were appointed: F. W. Henshaw, T. B. Palmer and J. S. Douglas. The petitioners ask that at least six districts be apportioned. They claim that at some of the polls at the present time less than 200 are voting while others from 500 to 700 vote.

On petition of L. P. Crossland, constable in Connellsville township, Charles F. Miller was appointed dep-

MOLLIE HAMER LOST JOB; CAUSED 20,000 TO STRIKE.

Necktie Workers Walked Out Today as Result of Efforts on Part of Nineteen Year Old Girl to Better Working Conditions:

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mollie Hamer aged 19 years, caused the strike today of 20,000 women and girls employed in the necktie factories. Mollie has been fighting for sanitary conditions. She fought herself out of her job and then proceeded to organize the other women and girls into a combination which should bring its employees to time.

Two months ago Mollie demanded better conditions from her employer. He fired her. Then she enlisted her friends and went to work. She succeeded in getting nearly all the employees to join the union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The strike followed a series of fruitless conferences between officials of the union and the American Federation of Labor and the employers.

The union demands more wages, the use of electricity instead of footpower and a general improvement of conditions. There are few neckties being made in New York today.

FIREMAN HELD UP ON THE WEST SIDE.

Two Negroes and White Man Make Nice Haul at Lehman's Expense.

WERE POLITE ABOUT IT, TOO

No Weapons Flashed and Affairs Takes But a Few Minutes Near the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot—Left Watch Untouched.

Charles W. Lehman, a fireman employed by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, was held up and robbed on the West Side last night by two negroes and a white man. They took from him $32 in cash and valuable papers valued at about $100. The holdup was executed with neatness and dispatch. It happened on Main street.

Lehman was on his way across the river when he was accosted at the Pennsylvania railroad on Main street by the three men.

"What time is it, boy?" asked one of the negroes.

"Eleven-thirty," replied Lehman, looking at his watch.

At that instant he was grasped on each side by two of the men. The white man went through his clothes while the negroes held Lehman's arms. They got the money and valuable papers from a pocketbook but did not take the watch.

"Come on boys," remarked the white man after the search was completed, "this will see us through."

After saying "much obliged" to Lehman the men released him and started up the Pennsylvania track.

Lehman was unarmed and dared not tackle the trio. He searched for a policeman but could find none. At that time and the holdup was engaged without detection.

One of the negroes was tall and the other medium built. It was too dark to identify the white man in the crowd.

It is believed the things belong to some of the construction camps up the river, which have attracted a tough element into this section. Some of the roughs work long enough to draw a pay and then jump their jobs. It is said that the rate of volunteers in town has been pretty bleak since the construction camps were established.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A dispatch from Gibraltar quotes King Manuel stating that he knew of no numberless plots against him but that he had not the heart to plunge his country into bloodshed to prevent their culmination.

Hope Abandoned for Men Buried in Trinidad Mine

United Press Telegram.
TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 10.—Hope that any of the more than 50 miners entombed in the Starksville mines might be still alive was abandoned today. The rescuer declared it would be impossible to reach the point of entombment for several days.

The coroner took possession today of the small machine shop next to the entrance of the mine, spread gunny-sacks on the floor and prepared tubs and tables for the reception of the bodies.

The rescuers have made but little progress, being repeatedly repelled by the foul and deadly fumes of the after-damp.

Most of the entombed men were married and had large families. The survivors started a movement today to provide for these. The company issued a list of the missing today. There are six Americans, one negro and the remainder Mexicans, Poles and Italians.

Many in Trouble.
Having neglected to procure a license for the sale of liquors, Mrs. Mary Trahan of Perry township, is under bond for appearance at December court for alleged illegal sales of intoxicants.

Y. M. C. A. BOOKS LECTURE COURSE.

Splendid Dates Announced
Today by Secretary
F. L. Chase.

GOVERNOR FOLK IS COMING

Also Judge Ben B. Lindsay of Denver, Colo., and Other Good Attractions, Season Ticket Sale Begins Tomorrow Evening.

The Y. M. C. A. will present a lecture course this year which is expected to be the best of its kind ever offered in Connellsville. Secretary Frank L. Chase has been working on the course for a number of weeks past and made the first public announcement of it today.

Governor Folk of Missouri and Judge Ben B. Lindsay of Denver, Colo., and the principal attractions of the course but there are also other strong attractions. The course will open October 21 and close March 23. There are five dates.

Souvenir tickets will be sold for $1.50, with an additional charge of 50 cents for reserved seats. The season tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. while the sale of reserved seats will begin October 17. The first attraction, October 21, will be the Whitby Brothers Quartette.

The second offering will be on November 22 when Alton Packard, the cartoonist, will entertain his audience. On December 16 Governor Folk of Missouri will appear.

The first offering in 1911, the date to be announced later, will be Judge Ben B. Lindsay of Denver, Colorado, the noted juvenile court judge.

On March 23 the course will conclude with the Passmore Trio and Charles Edward Clark.

MANY WEST PENN MEN OFF DUTY THIS WEEK

Some Attend Conventions and Others Take Delayed Vacations.

Several West Penn officials are on duty this week. Superintendent of Transportation M. A. Coffey and Chief Clerk H. L. Mitchell have gone to Atlantic City to attend the annual convention of the street railway men.

Master Mechanic Daniel Durlo and Chief Engineer J. J. Fritsch also expect to attend the convention this week.

Division Cashier C. W. Brooks and Auditor C. A. Purbaugh are taking late vacations, the former to Springfield township and the latter to Glenwood.

Dispatcher V. T. Barry was called to McKeesport by the death of his sister.

Looks like Ben Donnelly would have to run the road himself for a while.

No Danger In Bullskin Twp. Officers State

Health Officer Allen Hyatt and Secretary George B. Brown of the Board of Health yesterday investigated the sanitary conditions along Spruce creek, which were reported very bad by Health Officer Goshorn of Scotland. After an inspection the two officers came to the conclusion that the reports were grossly exaggerated.

In a communication to Dr. S. G. Dixon of the State Health Department both Hyatt and Brown state there is no danger from contamination and the care steps are being taken at the homes where typhoid fever has been reported.

Dr. Dixon ordered a thorough investigation and it was made.

The committee believes that with one man to look after the boilers and another for janitor, both can be kept busy about the High School and old Fourth Ward buildings. The boiler room is enlarged, out of school hours, thus reducing the regular bills.

The air has had a real frosty tang to it for the past couple of days, it has alternated between hot and cold for the past week and apparently decided to remain on the cooler side of the thermometer. Saturday morning was warm and balmy but towards sunset in the afternoon a stiff breeze caused the mercury to drop in the neighborhood of 55 degrees. The night was chilly.

Yesterday morning and afternoon were cool but comfortable with another drop in temperature in the evening. This morning the temperature was at 8 o'clock and remained about that for the rest of the day.

John Guller Operated On.

After suffering intense pain for some time past John A. Guller had an operation performed this morning at the Cottage State hospital on his right foot. Mr. Guller had the X-ray put on his foot in Unontown a few days ago and it was found that a dead bone was causing the trouble.

Married Couple Saturday.

Squiro W. P. Clark Saturday night married Anthony Martano and Margaret E. Burnhart, both of town.

WHAT HAPPENED WATER TANK ON ZACHARIAS FARM?

When George Woke Up This Morning He Found It Had Been Destroyed During Night—No Noise Heard,

But Dynamite is Blamed.

Most mysterious was the destruction of the water tank on the farm of Frank Zacharias last night or early this morning. When George Zacharias arose with the first streaks of gray dawn he found the tank had been destroyed in some manner and the water gone to waste.

The loss was a serious one for it was the intention to pack feed in the silo.

The men and teams came to the farm this morning for that purpose but could accomplish nothing, the water having soaked back to the soil from whence it came.

The tank was filled from a well, a windmill furnishing the power for the pump. For some days past the water was used but sparingly because it was needed for the silo packing.

The Zacharias brothers think the water tank was dynamited but they heard no explosion during the night or early morning hours. The tank presented the appearance of having been blown up. It is located some distance from the house, at the edge of the orchard.

WESTERN MARYLAND PROGRESS RAPID.

Work Near Connellsville is Being Rushed With Good Speed.

SOON ATTACK PORTER HILL

Timber Has Been Cleared and Work on the 30 Foot Cut Is About Ready to Start—Big Fill Required Across Head Bottom.

The line of the Western Maryland close to Connellsville is rapidly assuming definite form. Already portions of the line are practically to grade and this work is being rushed.

Even Sunday does not see a cessation of the work. Yesterday forenoon of the Robert Hill Construction Company was busily engaged, although it was a rest day for most of the laborers.

The steam shovel and the three dray engines were not at work, but they were overhauled and made in readiness for the early start today. At the concrete arch to be put across Dunbar creek a small force was at work pumping water out of the improvised coffee and removing rock and dirt from its bottom in the big bucket operated by a stationary engine. This is the only work being done on the Connellsville side of the Fairmont branch.

Across the Baltimore & Ohio much work has been accomplished during the past week. Porter hill has been cleared of the timber, along the railroad's right of way, and the heaviest of this is being used to construct the temporary trestle which will be used in making the big fill across Head bottom.

From the Battie & Ohio tracks, at the West Penn power station, across the bottom to a point along the hill opposite the new plant of the Keystone Tube Works, a fill from 50 to 60 feet to be made. Most of this dirt will come from the excavation along Porter hill, where thousands of cubic yards of earth must be removed.

The cut on this hill averages about 30 feet, which will yield a mass of earth, all of which will be needed.

There will also be considerable excavating to be done along the hill which lies between the bottom and Greenwood.

The Robert Hill Construction Company is at present working its steam shovel in an easterly direction beyond the upper pumping station of the Trotter Water Company. Several hundred yards of this has already been cleared and but little remains to be done to the point where a fill must be made.

This is a deep cut in some places.

The Hill company has one of the most extensive contracts along the line. Cuts and fills are of great magnitude and will require rapid work throughout the winter and next summer to complete the line by November, 1911.

Sunday strollers were out in force. Scores of

FOREIGN BUSINESS.

It is Handled Quickly and Safely By First National Bank of Connellsville.

The Foreign Money Order system of the First National Bank of Connellsville is so simple and so safe that money in small or large amounts is sent anywhere with perfect security. In fact, if you have foreign business of any kind you will do well to consult the First National. Its Foreign Department is the only Agency in this section for all the steamship lines in both the Continental and Mediterranean services; cables and letters reserved by telegraph; Passports secured; Letters of Credit, and Travelers Checks issued.

The transaction of business is made very by clerks speaking all languages.

BUYS PITTSBURG HOME.

Mrs. Margaret M. Rush of Unontown Gets Desirable Property.

The former Hudockton residence, with 75x120 feet on Brighton road, Bon Avon, owned by H. P. McCurdy, has been bought by Margaret M. Rush of Unontown, whose husband died recently, and was a large coal operator. While the price paid by Mrs. Rush for the property is not disclosed it is said to have been around $18,000.

The house was greatly improved last spring by Mr. McCurdy, who had a big colonial porch built on it, with large columns reaching to the roof. The house overlooks the valley and the Ohio river and is not far from Bon Avon station.

WHY THEY FAIL

Most Pile Remedies Miss the Cause of Piles.

Draugorous treatment with ointments or suppositories usually fails to cure piles and cutting them off won't remove the cause. Such treatment only moderates the effects of this disease and fails to remedy the inside cause. The up-to-date doctors now use internal medicine, to free the circulation in the lower bowel, and so remove the disease.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hein-Rold, the first and only guaranteed internal pile cure—in the form of tablets—cures all kind of piles. Sold by A. A. Clarke, Connellsville, Pa. $1 for large box; Dr. Leonhardt Co., St. Albans, N. Y.

COAL AND COKE*PRODUCTION AND POLITICS.

The announcement of a serious shortage in the bituminous coal supply is expected this winter in something of a surprise in the face of a counter-statement made a few days ago that the Pittsburgh district had averted this danger by its activity this summer. It also suggests some interesting facts concerning the growth of the coal and coke trade and the disturbing effect of politics.

The country is growing and with its growth the demand for coal and coke has a natural increase. The statistics show that the bituminous coal production of this country has mounted higher every year, due not only to the increasing demands of domestic consumption, but also and in a larger measure to the consumption of expanding industries. The following figures give an idea of the extent of this increase:

Year.	Tons.
1884	57,025,547
1893	124,527,71
1894	118,829,403
1897	115,617,310
1898	217,116,112
1899	212,572,011

The statistics also show that the increase has been steadily maintained under Republican administration and a Protective Tariff and has been checked under Democratic rule and Tariff-for-Revenue. Under Harrison and the McKinley Tariff it rose from 92 to 125 million tons, and promptly dropped to 111 million tons under Cleveland and the Wilson bill. When McKinley came into office in 1897 and the Dingley Tariff law was enacted production leaped in three years from 117 to 212 million tons, and under the encouragement of a Protective Tariff production mounted to 234 million tons in 1907. The Tariff agitation and the money panic of the fall of 1907 sent the production of 1908 down to 212 million tons from which it has since been gradually recovering. The fear of an insufficient supply this winter indicates that the production of 1910 will be perhaps a record-breaker. The figures for 1909 and 1910 are not yet available.

The influence of politics upon the situation is more strikingly shown in the coke statistics of the Connellsville region. The figures from 1884 down to and including 1909 are as follows:

Year.	Tons.	Price	Value
1884	1,955,054	$1.10	$2,111,094

THE HALLOWEEN IN SCOTTDALE.

Meeting to Arrange for It
Called for Tomorrow Evening.

AT THE BOROUGH BUILDING

The Mill Town's Celebration Has
Been Such a Splendid Success In
Year's Past That the People Want
the Same This Year.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Oct. 10.—Hallowe'en is coming and for several years the celebration of this particular evening, the holiday of autumn, the last outdoor game time before Grim Old Winter comes in on the people, has been an event of great moment. In no town has there been a handier, a more jolly or a more orderly holiday passed and enjoyed generally by the people of town and all the surrounding country as Hallowe'en in Scottdale. It has been a season of great enjoyment for the little folks especially, and the older ones, both men and women, have joined in the celebration that has made Scottdale's Hallowe'en famous among her peers.

The arrangements for the observance this year will begin with a meeting which Burgess R. F. Ellis has called for the Borough building on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when it is desired that all interested persons be present to take part in the arrangements. The meeting will be a starter for making the biggest shinny demonstration that was ever held in Scottdale. Many inquiries have been made within the last few days by those who are interested in the celebration and wished to know if it is to be observed this year. The plan of Scottdale is to have a big parade, and all the innocent fun possible. It is well to announce right here that purveyors of confetti, feather dusters, and such truck need no longer have any fears. The town hall has been rented in fullness and will not stand for them. They have held their celebrations without any disorder in the past and this record will be continued, if at all possible. One of the best ways to secure such a thing is to cut out all questionable forms of diversion. The boys and girls have always been of the most orderly that night, and the traditional damage of Hallowe'en has been neglected because, with the approval of all the people, a real evening has been set apart for fun. There is no necessity of marking the evening with sneaking about back alleys, by constructing the nerve-disturbing "tickle talk" or reading the night with noise. Chalk night and corn night will be wiped off the hat too. It is expected, because the boys and girls desire to save their energies and money for celebrating Hallowe'en in truly gorgeous style. The plan has all worked so well in the past that the people are anxious to try it again on the lines that assure everyone enjoyment. So be at the meeting on Tuesday night.

The Largest Crowd.

The largest audience of men ever assembled in this place packed the Sunday school room and main auditorium of the Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon to listen to Evangelist Davis' address, "Facts for Men to Face." It was a terrible mishap of the sins peculiar to men in which the speaker told of the dangers and results of wild oats sowing. Although 150 of the audience were compelled to stand through a service three hours in length scarcely a person left until the close so great was the interest manifested. At the close a large number expressed a desire to live a Christian life and the men voted unanimously to have another meeting next Sunday when the evangelist will give another address similar in character. In the evening two services were held. At the M. E. Church Mrs. F. A. Mills conducted an interesting and helpful service for boys and girls who filled the auditorium and made the building ring with their enthusiastic singing. At the Presbyterian church the audience was even larger, if such a thing were possible, than the one in the afternoon. The singing by the choir and audience was of a character seldom heard outside of the larger cities, the leader Mr. Mills conducting in an inspiring manner. The sermon by Evangelist Davis was never to be forgotten, his subject being "The Abundant Life" in which he compared the Christian life to seven store building, the different stories of which he named Regeneration, Assurance, Consecration, Spirit Filled Life, Fruitfulness, Victory and Heart Rest. He said in part: "There are many that like to enjoy the protection that Christianity affords to a community. They back up against the building when it rains as it were, but that kind of protection is not the same thing as being inside the building. The only way to get in is to go through the door which is Christ. Some are in on the first floor and they never get any higher. They are sitting in easy rocking chairs blocking the way so others can not get in. Others are enduring religion. They have picked out the most uncomfortable chairs they can find and there sits the picture of misery, close to the door so that if anything disagreeable happens they can run out. Some are not even on the first floor. They have gone down into the basement and there they are stumbling over bear traps and cobwebs. If you don't like it down there, call for help and when you get up to the first floor, take the word of God for a brush broom and clean up."

At the close a large number signified their desire to become Christians. The meeting tonight is for unmarried women and mothers who were at the woman's meeting last week are urging their daughters to attend.

The Mill Town's Celebration Has
Been Such a Splendid Success In
Year's Past That the People Want
the Same This Year.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Oct. 10.—Hallowe'en is coming and for several years the celebration of this particular evening, the holiday of autumn, the last outdoor game time before Grim Old Winter comes in on the people, has been an event of great moment. In no town has there been a handier, a more jolly or a more orderly holiday passed and enjoyed generally by the people of town and all the surrounding country as Hallowe'en in Scottdale. It has been a season of great enjoyment for the little folks especially, and the older ones, both men and women, have joined in the celebration that has made Scottdale's Hallowe'en famous among her peers.

The arrangements for the observance this year will begin with a meeting which Burgess R. F. Ellis has called for the Borough building on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when it is desired that all interested persons be present to take part in the arrangements. The meeting will be a starter for making the biggest shinny demonstration that was ever held in Scottdale. Many inquiries have been made within the last few days by those who are interested in the celebration and wished to know if it is to be observed this year. The plan of Scottdale is to have a big parade, and all the innocent fun possible. It is well to announce right here that purveyors of confetti, feather dusters, and such truck need no longer have any fears. The town hall has been rented in fullness and will not stand for them. They have held their celebrations without any disorder in the past and this record will be continued, if at all possible. One of the best ways to secure such a thing is to cut out all questionable forms of diversion. The boys and girls have always been of the most orderly that night, and the traditional damage of Hallowe'en has been neglected because, with the approval of all the people, a real evening has been set apart for fun. There is no necessity of marking the evening with sneaking about back alleys, by constructing the nerve-disturbing "tickle talk" or reading the night with noise. Chalk night and corn night will be wiped off the hat too. It is expected, because the boys and girls desire to save their energies and money for celebrating Hallowe'en in truly gorgeous style. The plan has all worked so well in the past that the people are anxious to try it again on the lines that assure everyone enjoyment. So be at the meeting on Tuesday night.

A TOWER OF STRENGTH.

Washburn-Crosby Company Adds
Young Men to Its Board.

Comment is frequently heard on the splendid business organization possessed by the Washburn-Crosby Company.

In this connection, the action of the company at the annual meeting on Sept. 19, in adding eight new members to the board of directors, young men for years actively identified with the business, has special significance, having fully demonstrated their ability in various capacities, they are now given substantial recognition officially. In the action can be seen the master mind of President James S. Bell, whose creed is to place large responsibility upon young men who have made good.

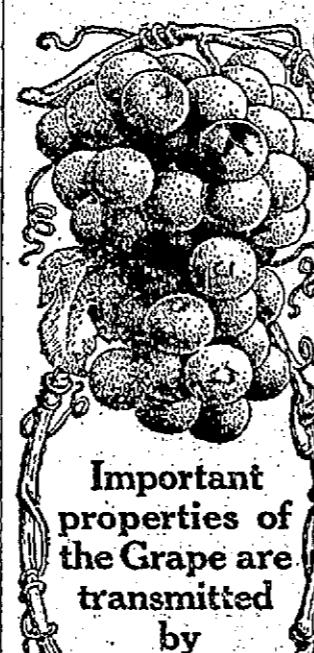

Additional to the former directors, consisting of J. S. Bell, W. H. Dunwoody, John Washburn, Samuel Bell, Jr., John Crosby, C. G. Survey and F. A. Addison, the new ones are James Ford Bell, William H. Boyce, Bonfield S. Bell, William G. Crocker, Franklin M. Crosby, Guy A. Thomas, F. Henry of Buffalo, and T. C. Estes of New York City.

Number and Name for All.
London, Oct. 10.—George Bernard Shaw furnished a little sketch of the coming millennium in a lecture here. He said that every man would have a number and name.

Every man would carry about his passport and his photograph on the passport and every man would be liable to be called upon by a representative of the state to stand and deliver and show who he was and what he was doing or what he was not doing and why he was doing it.

A Cure for Smoky Lamps

To have lamps burning their brightest, the bowls should be kept full of oil and the burners free from oil and charred wick. The burners can easily be cleaned by boiling occasionally for an hour in a strong solution of Gold Dust washing powder; wipe on a cloth and they will be as good as new. Clean the chimney by washing it with water to which has been added a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder, and wipe dry on a soft towel; polish with old newspaper.

Heavy Gale Carries Burning Embers
Ahead—Corpses by the Score in Wake of Disastrous Forest Fire.
High Wind Blowing.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 10.—More than 250 dead, millions upon millions of dollars worth of property destroyed, 3,000 refugees fleeing from the flames, is an epitome of the happenings of the day's hell session in the Beltrami county forest fires.

Fugitives Hauled in Box Cars.
Thirty-five typhoid fever patients were carried on improvised litters from Spooner just before it was wiped off the map. Forty-five were carried from Beaudette and the Meeteetse of all the refugees, carried or staggering from exhaustion, was Itasca River, across the water from the flood-laden districts of Minnesota.

Flames Hit Rainy River.

Then the flames hit Rainy River, destroyed the lumber mills and 2,000 panic-stricken refugees piled into freight cars and all but mobbed the engineer of a switch engine, who thinking there was no danger started to pull them out of the town.

Later, the flames subsided and 500 refugees landed in International Falls, strong men shaking like leaves in a gale, women and their children, fever patients on stretchers, burned men and women swathed in bandages and a whole motley crowd in stock cars like cattle.

International Falls met them at the station, opened the city hall and hotel for them and gave them beds such as could be provided.

High Wind Blowing.
Rainy River, Ont., Oct. 10.—Northern Minnesota is passing through the worst disaster in the history of the state, even overshadowing the Hinckley horror of fifteen years ago.

The wind is blowing a hurricane and seems to be coming from all directions at once. Burning embers are being carried before this wind to settle and start other fires, which as they gain headway are joined by the parent body. It is assured that but few of the homesteaders and settlers have escaped, and it is believed the dead will number over 200.

Already over forty bodies have been recovered in this immediate vicinity.

Harrowing Tales.
Refuges from Beaudette tell harrowing tales of the horrors there when that town caught fire. Household goods, and valuables of all descriptions, even down to money, scattered the streets while the people ran panic-stricken hither and thither without any objective point.

Two men went mad and ran into the burning bush and perished. Women fainted on the streets and were dragged to the relief trains by their friends.

When the fire approached the house of Albert Berg, his servant, Josephine Jasper, refused to leave. Several men tried to persuade her but she attacked them with a butcher knife, wounded one man and she was left to her fate and perished.

Two Thousand Missing.

The missing includes some two thousand residents of Boudette, Spooner and Pitt, some of whom are dead, but the most of whom are safe in Rainy River and the adjacent towns on the Canadian side of the line.

The most serious aspect of the missing includes the homesteaders and farmers in the bush for a distance of 100 miles east and twenty miles south, of whom absolutely nothing can be known for some time as searching parties do not dare penetrate the still smoking forests through which the cyclone of fire has swept.

Blackened Corpses Found.
Sixty-blackened corpses have been found in the part of the flames and a vast area is yet to be searched for dead while the towns of Spooner, Beaudette and Pitt have been totally destroyed with a property loss that cannot be intelligently calculated at present.

Railroad and wire connections with the scene of the great disaster, from the west is cut off by a burned district from Warroad, Minn., on the Canadian Northern railroad, a distance of forty miles, through which the last trains passed at imminent peril of the lives of the crew. The road is open to the south and east, however, and relief is being afforded from Fort William.

Fires Smouldering Long Time.

These fires have been smouldering in that district for months and were started anew by the terrific wind which began to blow two days ago. The wind increased in velocity with the heat, until a wave of flame over a hundred feet high and as long leaped barriers half a mile wide in many directions.

It was this situation that caused so many to perish on the railway track. They sought this opening in the bush but were burned to cinders by the heat waves leaping this barrier of some 200 yards along the clearing of the railway tracks.

The identification of the dead is most difficult because the people have scattered so widely.

Special Relief Trains.

The prompt work of relief engineers by the Canadian Northern railroad officials preserved thousands of lives, as most of the residents of Spoden, Beaudette and Pitt took advantage of the special trains run for them by that company.

The people had become so accustomed to the smoke and haze in the sky incident to burning timber that they could not be made to realize that the situation was becoming dangerous. Then when the danger became imminent they were forced to escape in crowds.

The Canadian Northern railroad has been running relief trains in every direction, stopping at any point where frantic people were to be found along the track. The heroism of these train crews is a part of the heroism of the occasion displayed by so many.

Fugitives Hauled in Box Cars.
Many trains have been running through suffocating smoke and burning bridges and timbers but regardless of danger to the crews. The most dramatic incidents were those incident to the escape of 2,000 fugitives in a long train of box cars.

The mob of women, men and children waited for the train while their homes were in flames and the roar of falling timbers was harrowing in the extreme. The first train load steamed across to Rainy River with men hanging to the sides and to the trucks. Women were given first places.

Many of those left started running down the tracks and perished. Others with great courage stood their ground and were rescued by the second train. On this side of the line there seemed no danger until a small fire which had been smoldering for several days was fanned to a flame.

It was near the big Raportage Lumber company mill and the plant and great piles of lumber were roaring in an instant. Again the terror-stricken fugitives prepared to depart if it looked as if Rainy River must go the way of Beaudette.

Trainmaster Saves Hundreds.
Trainmaster Nelson, whose unflinching courage and resourcefulness is responsible for saving hundreds, prepared a long line of box cars and the fugitives scrambled aboard.

In Spooner the only houses left standing are those around the station and half a dozen on the river. The problem of caring for the refugees is a serious one. Eight hundred were taken to International Falls.

It is expected relief will be supplied by the United States in a few hours, but in the meantime the Canadian people are feeding them, but it is a serious question.

Refugees Almost Naked.
The women and children have found shelter with the families of Canadians, but most of the men are living in box cars. Most of these unfortunate have lost everything they possess, many of them being almost naked. Tents are badly needed.

The most conservative estimates are that at least 100 people have perished in the woods, of which there are no record, and possibly never will be. Two thousand people are homeless.

Sixteen Corpses Uncared For.
Roosevelt, Minn., Oct. 10.—Sixteen corpses are lying on the track in this vicinity uncared for, the people being too panicstricken looking after their own safety to care for the dead. Four men from Davenport, Ia., who came up here to Homestead, were burned to death, their bodies having been found in the bushes near here.

Warroad, Minn., In Danger.
Warroad, Minn., Oct. 10.—Fires surround this town and it is feared it will be destroyed. The inhabitants have packed their valuables and are ready to board a relief train in waiting.

Miss Gould—Host to Children.
Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Miss Helen M. Gould entertained about 400 boys and girls from the American Tract society at her recreation park on the White Plains road. The party came on five special cars and were taken to the playgrounds by trolley.

LORD LOVELAND

DISCOVERS AMERICA

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company. Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company

While Loveland made himself presentable for the early dinner Ed Blaney went on to sketch the members of the "crowd" though in a manner very different from the manager's sarcastic descriptive efforts. He said that Jacobus was a tyrant and a bully, but that he could act; that every one except Miss Moon was afraid of "J. J." and she wouldn't be afraid of an Indian chief on the warpath; that Miss de Lisle didn't dare say her soul was her own or that black was black if old Jack remarked that it wasn't; that Jacobus had done a very good thing for himself in getting hold of Little as a star, although she had no money, for she was a peach, a live wire, just the sort of little gal to be a "go" at towns like this. "Folks are wild about her. She's so pretty and so dainty as they make 'em a whole haystack above what they generally see in these bars," went on Ed. "But she needs managing, and, gee, Jack and his wife do manage her. But the old girl's jealous. I don't know how long the show will last, for if she says stop Jack stops, you bet. He's as scared of her as everybody else is of him. She runs the shubbs, and there's two of her sons by her first husband in it. They can't eat, and they can't look, but, by gosh, they're good to their mother."

Into the midst of all the discourse crackled a ferocious blarney bell, and in sheer self defense they rushed downstairs in the hope of stopping the clamor by their presence.

CHAPTER XIX.

BILL'S STAR.

AT could have laughed aloud as he imagined the old sort of a few weeks since—the young and popular officer in the guards self-obeying the beckoning finger of such a map as Jacobus. But he walked toward it like a lamb and was introduced to actors and Mrs. Jacobus (Miss Moon) and Miss de Lisle.

Miss Moon's first sweeping glance at the newcomer was one of self-conscious, important condescension; but, seeing that he was an extremely handsome, well dressed young man, with an air and an appearance widely different from the tenth rate actors of her acquaintance, past and present, her face and manner changed.

She was a big woman of forty-two or three, with the splendid ruin of what had been a fine figure. Beside Miss Moon, Bill's "little gal" looked like a tiny fishing boat bobbing under the lee of a large schooner, but she was a pretty creature whose curly hair was naturally almost as golden as it glittered, gray-blue eyes which ought to have been mischievous and merry, but were languid; a clear, rather freckled white skin and the plump nose and innocent smile of a child.

These ladies were not dressed as tidily as their best friends might have wished, but Loveland had grown used to Isidore and did not pick flaws lightly. They were both very cordial to him somewhat—it would have seemed to Mr. Jacobus' contemptuous annoyance, and then, at Miss Moon's suggestion, Ed Blaney introduced Mr. Gordon across and down the length of the table to all the other actors and actresses.

The latter were two in number besides Miss de Lisle and Mrs. Jacobus, Miss Italy St. Clare, whose mission was to act small parts and play the piano, was of the startled fawn order of young female, evidently not long out of amateurhood, and Mrs. Winter, who had passed the age when it was necessary to preserve her maiden name for programs. She was a reserved and suspicious looking woman, who watched her husband with short, sidelong glances of anxiety either for his conduct or his health. As for him, he was a thin, dejected, grey little man who suffered apparently from a broken heart or a shattered digestion.

The remaining male members of the company were Mrs. Jacobus' two sons, Tom and Bob Eccles. They were between twenty and twenty-five, and like their mother, though one was fat, with the lazy smile of a Buddha, and the other, who through a cast in his eye just missed being handsome, inclined to be truculent.

Loveland had intended to take a chair next his roommate, but Miss Moon made a place for him between herself and Buddha-smiling Bob. As everybody except Jack Jacobus and the Winters talked and joked contentedly, it was surprising how fast they ate. Nearly every one drank large cups full of milky coffee with their diners, and twenty minutes after beginning the meal all had finished with the exception of Loveland, who was not accustomed to giving his food such short shrift. He rose with the others, however, and a few moments later the company was struggling in a processional to the theater.

But, after all, it was not a theater and even courtesy gave it no more high sounding name than "hall." It stood at the end of Main street, its brick front wall plastered with wonderful colored posters representing the most sensational scenes in "the human flower's" repertory. To reach the stage it was necessary to mount a long mud caked staircase and to pass the scenery and change the settings tale to me. I have to go, anyhow, in about four minutes."

"I'd rather talk to you than watch if you'll let me because I have a message for you from an old friend of yours that I've been wanting to tell you all day!" Loveland began hastily, not to waste out of the four minutes. "I wonder if you remember him—Bill Willing?"

"Bill Willing? A friend of yours? The girl spoke sharply in her surprise. "Then you haven't forgotten him."

"Forgotten him? I never will to my dying day."

Her voice quivered a little, for like most actresses of her type, her emotions were so easily played upon as harp strings.

"Those are almost the words he used about you," said Loveland, interested in Little's part of the broken love melody he had been in Bill's, "only his voice was not for the role of any one's foot."

How they ever got themselves out of one costume into another in time, now that they over remembored which of their many doublings came first, which Little, Loveland could not conceive, but, standing in the wings waiting for his own dressed turn, he was filled with an increasing respect for the harmonizers, male and female. They could act, too, most of them, which seemed to him the strangest part of all, for he had not expected to find the satellites of Bill's little star twinkling with the light of talent. As for his own performance, he realized before it had begun that such strenuous efforts as had won him applause when a amateur in London would not be good enough to gain him admiration as a professional in Modbury. It was another thing when, as a handsome young soldier, Lord Loveland had swaggered easily about the stage pleased with himself and pleasing every one else, because every one had come with the intention of being pleased.

Here in remote little Modbury the audience was evidently for more critical, and it didn't like what it saw. It said so audibly with a voice from the cheap seats or at least intuited in prolonged fit of bated coughing. If Loveland could have gone on "as himself," as Jacobus had said, he might have captured the fancy of the girls, but as old Dave Drednought in a wild wig and moth eaten beard lent by Ed Winter the new addition to the company could conquer that audience only by sheer force of acting.

Prominently for Loveland, he was not obliged to walk on to the stage in answer to calls or it seemed to him that he could not budge moved. It was bad enough to be "decoyed." In the act of being murdered, and as the moment came when he would have to make his first speech in blood, Val was beating the drum in his temple. His throat felt dry, and when his cue to speak was given by Jacobus with meaning, ended by him only swallow and glare. Not a word of the carefully rehearsed part could he remember, and, in utter despair looking out in front, a thing Ed Blaney had warned him not to do it seemed as if the rows of faces down below the yellow footlights were leaping up at him like a wave.

Just as Jacobus bent over him, frantically glaring ready to prompt and drive at the same time, Loveland's frozen hesitation melted into words and gestures, the right words, the right gestures. Jacobus alighted a great sigh of thanksgiving and Val delivered his cue with a transport of real life. He was half frightened at his own explosiveness, but the audience enjoyed it and when the curtain went down upon his death there was a round of applause.

Though dead as dice, it was the business to rise again in the third act as a young man of fashion—a youthful butterfly from an ancient chrysalis—and drink with the sweet draft of triumph, he made the change gay, as happy for the moment as if he were playing before an audience of kings and queens.

He had dressed and was lurking in the wings again, watching with some interest the arrest of the leading man for his (Loveland's) murder on false evidence finally given by Ed Blaney when Miss de Lisle flitted noiselessly up, very insultingly disguised as a boy.

"I suppose you do remember that you're a young English Lord," she whispered anxiously.

Loveland started and stared. Had she found him out?

"In your next scene," she explained. "Oh," said Loveland, relieved, "Am I—a lord?"

"Yes. Didn't Jacobus tell you? But perhaps he thought it didn't matter."

"It doesn't seem to," reported Val, smiling faintly at his own hidden meaning.

"You're supposed to be the son of the Duke of Illegible. Ed Winter the duke, you know. Of course, though, you haven't seen the whole play, only your own scenes, so you can't keep track of everything. You have only to walk on, or, rather, walk on with Miss Moon, you know. And when she goes off and I come on in girl's clothes again you must say, 'The next is mine, I believe,' with an English drawl. But the part's down on the program as 'Lord William Vale!'"

"By Jove! I know Willy Vale. He's in the Black 'W'—begin Loveland, but he bit his lip and broke off abruptly.

"The human flower" laughed. "I don't suppose your friend's a lord, though."

Loveland did not reply as the choice lay between a fib and an affirmative.

"You ought to know how lords behave more than any of us," went on the girl, "as you're an Englishman. I suppose you've seen some?"

"Yes, a few," said Val cautiously.

"Were they very haughty?"

"Not all of them."

"Well, as you've seen them you'll know just how to act, and you look swell. Perhaps you'd rather watch Jack Jacobus' big scene than

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroluxion. When I would sit down in a chair I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."

Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, 202 N. Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation without first consulting until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills and creates health.

LARGEST COLLECTION EVER

$242,110.83 Put in Plate at Cincinnati Episcopal Church.

Cincinnati, Oct. 10.—What is said to be the largest collection ever taken up on plate by any church in America was taken up here. A communion service was being held in Christ Episcopal church, where the donations were being received for the woman's auxiliary for the general missionary fund.

At the conclusion it was announced that the plates placed upon the tables in front of the trustees had been piled with funds aggregating $242,110.83. The showing was nearly $20,000 in excess of the collection made at Richmond three years ago.

Sacrifices Diamonds For Sinkers
New Castle, Pa., Oct. 10.—Wives may hereafter have an argument against baking biscuits, founded upon the hard luck of Mrs. John S. Westlake of this city. She is now hunting for a $300 diamond ring, which she took off at her home and hung on a nail, while she made biscuits. She forgot to replace the ring on her finger after finishing the baking. Police were asked to help find it.

Angel of the Mines Tonight

A dramatic star, Miss Minnie Griffin, will make her first appearance in this city at the Salsom theatre tonight, in the beautiful play, "The Angel of the Mines."

She is supported by the King Stock Company, an organization that has received flattering notices at other points. The company numbers

15 people and includes several well known actors. Special scenery is used for their stirring productions, which include "The Crisis," recently produced in New York city by James

K. Hackett, "Amy, the Circus Girl,"

"The Ruling Power," "Camille," and others equally as good. The prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents and ladies tickets have been distributed which are good only for tonight. A matinee is given Saturday.

The Lottery Man

Of all last season's laughing successes of New York, one raises itself above the others, because of its universal appeal to the humorous viewpoint. That is Rita Johnson Young's "The Lottery Man," which the Shuberts will bring here shortly. For six months till it carried its audiences along at the Bijou theatre, New York, on a tidal wave of enthusiasm. It will be brought out with the same production that made all New York laugh.

The words echoed in Loveland's head: "Too late now. We shall never see each other again."

"The human flower's" thoughts were far away with Bill Willing. But at least she knew where he was and was sure that he loved her, while Val did not even know the name of the place near Louisville where Lesley Deamer lived, and he was sure that she did not love him. Yet he was sure of that, though perhaps there was a time, he told himself, when he might have made his case.

Instead of trying to win her when he had the chance he had asked her advice about the best way of making love to other girls. Oh, he deserved it!

"It's too late now," Bill's star went on. "We shall never see each other again."

SPEEDY HIGH SCHOOL BOYS OVERWHELM IRWIN ELEVEN.

Have No Trouble in Piling Up 23 to 0 Score in Snappy Contest Here on Saturday.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT SHOWN

There Was Less Fumbling, But This Is Yet the Worst Weakness the Boys Have Shown—Backfield, Ends and Line Play Brilliantly.

Playing a fast, snappy game, Connellsville High School walked away with Irwin High here on Saturday and won by a 23 to 0 score. The team showed marked improvement over the game a week previous. It played faster football and there was not so much fumbling, although this fault was noticeable at times. Long pauses by the center were somewhat of a color. Irwin was on the defensive throughout the first two quarters but during the latter part of the game showed better form, holding Connellsville to no score in the last half and in the third quarter keeping almost constant possession of the ball. During the latter part of the fourth quarter Coach Smith ran in a number of substitutes but they had no opportunity to show their real strength before the whistle blew.

The first string men showed up in fine style. There was a tendency on the part of the line to get offside, McDowell being the most flagrant offender. In the fourth quarter he was guilty of this twice. In succession McCormick and almost too much as aggressiveness were the worst faults developed and Coach Smith can be depended upon to whip this out of the boys before the Johnston game next Saturday.

Backfield Brilliant.

The backfield played especially brilliant ball throughout the game. In the absence of Moser, who is on the sick list, Arthur Buttermore ran the team like a veteran. He was cool and quick, and ran the signals with rare good judgment. Lardy and Munk were bright and shining stars, with Scott consistent ground gainer. Munk gave one of the greatest demonstrations of broken field running seen here for many years while Lardy was not whit less brilliant. Lardy showed more skill in circling the ends. He has a keen eye for openings and darts through like a flash, he had the opposing team badly confused more than once.

The line held splendidly in the difficult defensive work required of it. The line is yet a problem because it has not been tried against an aggressive team. It is not believed this year's line will be found wanting.

For once Saturday High School got the best of the "breaks." Two of the touchdowns were somewhat on the order of flukes, but they counted just the same and Irwin was completely outclassed. Several of the Irwin boys played here two Saturdays ago with Youngwood and did not anticipate the marked improvement shown by the team.

First Touchdown Quick.

The first touchdown came after a bare chance of play. In the first quarter Connellsville kicked on, Irwin fumbled on the first scrummage and Lynn Buttermore recovered the ball, doing the intervening 10 or 15 yards for a touchdown before Irwin realized what had happened. Lardy kicked right goal.

Irwin kicked to Scott who returned the ball 10 yards up field. Scott carried the ball through the line for 15 yards but lost 20 on the succeeding play because of a bad pass. He gained 25 yards and Irwin could not gain. Verner tried the line but McMillen started in and got him. Both ends played good football throughout the contest. Jenkins gained a meager yard through the line. Verner then kicked and Munk fumbled. Scott falling on the pigskin. Munk tore off 5 yards through tackle. Lardy circled the ends for 20 more. Scott tossed a forward pass to Munk and a first down was accomplished. The Irwin line then held but a forward pass gained 5 yards. Scott fumbled but Lardy recovered the ball, a yard being lost. Scott kicked. Irwin fumbled and McCormick shot across the line for a touchdown after recovering the ball. Lardy again kicked goal.

Irwin kicked and the ball was returned to the 25 yard line. Scott kicked but Irwin was unable. Verner and T. Evans attempted the forward pass but the play was off. Irwin then kicked to Scott who ran back 20 yards before he was downed. Lardy lost a bare yard and then the forward pass gained a first down. Munk tore through the line for a first down. This was called a score. Connellsville, 22; Irwin, 0.

Rip Through Line.

When play was resumed Scott tore through the line but was halted. A forward pass went wrong but McMillen recovered the ball for Connellsville. Lardy ripped five yards off through a broken field. Lardy got Scott's forward pass for a gain. Scott and Munk made big gains through the line. From the 25 yard line Lardy then tore through the Irwin line and tackled for the third touchdown. This was the greatest run of the game. Lardy kicked goal.

Art Buttermore received the kick and returned 20 yards. McCormick regained a fumble. Scott's forward pass to Lardy netted 10 yards and a first down. Lardy and Scott gained PLUMES.

Connellsville, Pa.

SOUTH AFRICAN OSTRICH PLUME SALE

BIGGEST PURCHASE WE EVER MADE---LOWEST PRICES YOU EVER PAID---RICHEST PLUMES EVER OFFERED IN FAYETTE COUNTY.

An Investment in An Ostrich Plume

Is a wise investment at any time—like a diamond, once bought you always have it—consider that, and then notice what the most important trade journal in America has to say about ostrich plumes.

"Ostrich feathers this season are very prominent for dress hats. In fact, a sudden and rather unexpected demand made great inroads on the visible supply. The last 'plucking' have brought better prices than at any time within a year and there seems to be a tendency towards higher prices as the season advances." (Trade Journal under date of September 5, 1910.)

How It Was Accomplished

A syndicate of buyers, composed of these firms, and others: Mease Bros. & Co., Danville, Ill.; Kline, Schultz & Co., Warren, O.; Scott, Wright & Co., Cadiz, O.; J. M. Hartley & Co., Fairmont, W. Va.; Wright-Metzler Co., Connellsville, and Uniontown, bought the entire stock of fine ostrich feathers manufactured by

REIGE NAQUET CO.,

In advance of a rising market, this was a wonderful piece of merchandising, since it gives you the one chance to buy at less than wholesale prices today.

A Sure Saving of 25%, 33 1/3% and More.

Anticipating the great demand and the sure rise in price even before the "Trade Journal" hinted at such, we with others placed the largest order that ever came from this part of Pennsylvania with America's foremost importer of ostrich feathers. This sale is the result and the prices that you will have to pay are lower than the smaller merchants can buy them at wholesale today. This first collection of South African Ostrich Plumes goes to you at "first hand" prices. At regular Wright-Metzler cost you would pay less than elsewhere. On top of that, but for one week only, your savings will really be one-fourth, one-third and even more. Be on hand early and don't miss this one grand chance to buy plumes at their lowest figure.

Sale Begins Tuesday, the 11th, and Lasts One Week.
